HSBC Malta Foundation supports Life Network Foundation's Campaign

HSBC Malta Foundation has reaffirmed its commitment to supporting vulnerable members of the community by contributing to the Agħti Tgħanniqa (Give a Hug) campaign, an initiative by Life Network Foundation aimed at assisting young mothers as they transition towards independent living.

The campaign provides essential financial and material support to mothers leaving Dar Tgħanniqa Ta' Omm (Hug of a Mother Home), a residential home offering shelter and care for women facing unplanned pregnancies. Through this initiative, these women receive assistance with start-up rent, home necessities, baby supplies, and ongoing resources to ensure they have a stable foundation to build their future.

Speaking about HSBC Malta's support for the initiative, Glenn Bugeja on behalf of the HSBC Malta Foundation, said, "Empowering individuals to take control of their future is at the heart of our community efforts. The Agħti Tgħanniqa campaign aligns with HSBC Malta Foundation's commitment to fostering social well-being by ensuring young mothers have the support they need to provide a secure environment for themselves and their children."

The donation will contribute directly to securing safe housing, providing essential supplies, and ensuring that these mothers receive the guidance needed to navigate early parenthood with confidence.

As part of the fundraising efforts, Life Network Foundation will host a TV marathon on Saturday, 21st June, where supporters and partners will come together to raise further funds for the campaign. HSBC Malta's contribution reflects its long-standing commitment to supporting families and strengthening community resilience.

Suzette Muscat, Executive Secretary at Life Network Foundation, expressed gratitude for HSBC Malta's support, saying, "This initiative is about giving young mothers the opportunity to rebuild their lives with dignity and hope. The generosity of organisations like HSBC Malta ensures that we can continue offering vital support to those who need it most."

Through partnerships with organisations dedicated to social impact, HSBC Malta continues to invest in meaningful initiatives that create lasting change.
